

MARY RUSSELL MITFORD

A photograph of a stone building with a white gabled roof structure and a window with a flower box. The building is made of light-colored stone with red brick accents. The roof is covered in dark grey shingles. A white gabled structure is attached to the roof, featuring a decorative cutout. A window is visible below the gable, with a flower box hanging from it. A black downspout runs vertically down the side of the building. The overall scene is a close-up of the building's exterior.

TOWN VERSUS COUNTRY