

Andreas
Seidl

Handover of Power

European Version - Volume 2/21
Derivation

For You

Volume 1: Summary
Volume 2: Derivation
Volume 3: Constitution
Volume 4: State Organisation
Volume 5: Digital
Volume 6: Media
Volume 7: Labour
Volume 8: Planned Economy
Volume 9: Social Market Economy
Volume 10: Barter Economy
Volume 11: Free Market Economy
Volume 12: Finance
Volume 13: Innovation
Volume 14: Education
Volume 15: Health
Volume 16: Infrastructure
Volume 17: Security
Volume 18: Justice
Volume 19: Foreign Affairs
Volume 20: Integration
Volume 21: Family

Acknowledgements

My thanks go to my family and friends who have made me who I am today. Special thanks to all those who supported me in writing this book. I would like to thank all my classmates, teachers, fellow students, lecturers, demonstrators, activists, colleagues, companies and countries with whom I have had the privilege of sharing the experiences from which all the ideas in this book have emerged. I would like to thank the staff of Books on Demand for their kind helpfulness. I thank the citizens of Seligenstadt for the harmony and solidarity in which I was able to write.

Foreword

This policy concept contains a variety of proposals for possible political reforms. It can be peacefully and democratically adapted to any current political system of any state in the world, but also to political systems in families, clubs, associations or companies. Wherever humans make or submit to rules that manage living together, the following proposals can be helpful. Readers who find the proposals so helpful that they would like to implement them together with like-minded people can contact the author. The contact form on the last page can be used for this purpose.

Faults and defects

I ask for your understanding that this volume was not professionally proofread. I could only afford professional proofreading for the summary. Spelling errors and unfortunate phrasing may therefore occur. As soon as this volume has sold enough to pay for a professional proofreading, it will be done. After that, a new edition will be published.

English version

Please understand that this volume has been translated automatically. I could only afford a professional translation for the summary. Poor wording and spelling errors may therefore occur. In case of doubt, the German version shall prevail. As soon as this volume has sold enough to pay for a professional translation, it will be done. After that, a new edition will be published. It was more important to me that no one in the world should have an information advantage than individual translation errors in the complete work.

Table of contents

1. Introduction
2. Summary
3. Purpose of the book
 - 3.1 Division of the 21 volumes
 - 3.2 Target group of the book
 - 3.3 Risks in the handover of power
 - 3.4 Aims of the book
4. Problems, solutions, examples
 - 4.1 State organisation
 - 4.1.1 Interdepartmental parties
 - 4.1.2 Irresponsible politicians
 - 4.1.3 Short-term decisions with long-term damage
 - 4.1.4 Government past the will of the people
 - 4.1.5 Power vacuum during revolutions
 - 4.2 Digital
 - 4.2.1 Obsolete analogue state system
 - 4.2.2 Unprotected data
 - 4.2.3 Internet as a lawless space
 - 4.3 Media
 - 4.3.1 Manipulated role models
 - 4.3.2 Manipulative reporting
 - 4.3.3 Ideologically controlled editorial offices
 - 4.4 Labour
 - 4.4.1 Cumbersome bureaucracy

- 4.4.2 Opaque labour market
- 4.4.3 Insecure company data
- 4.4.4 Ongoing real wage reductions
- 4.4.5 Disadvantaged employees
- 4.4.6 Unfair pension system
- 4.4.7 Ineffective consumer protection
- 4.4.8 Finance economy without alternatives
- 4.4.9 Blind Financial Supervisory Authority
- 4.4.10 Environmentally damaging agriculture

4.5 Economy

- 4.5.1 Monopoly of an economic form
- 4.5.2 Dwindling middle class
- 4.5.3 Economy away from nature
- 4.5.4 Social dumping
- 4.5.5 Useless social welfare
- 4.5.6 Flawed communist planned economy
- 4.5.7 Risky cyclical fluctuations in the global economy

4.6 Finance

- 4.6.1 Indebted states
- 4.6.2 Unfair fiscal equalisation
- 4.6.3 Complicated tax system
- 4.6.4 Uncoordinated state banks
- 4.6.5 Central Banks in the currency war
- 4.6.6 International financial markets create impoverishment

4.7 Innovation

- 4.7.1 Market power of obsolete technologies
- 4.7.2 Partisan professors and studies

4.7.3 Unfree research

4.7.4 Insufficient protection of new ideas

4.8 Education

4.8.1 Incapacitated pupils

4.8.2 Incapacitated teachers

4.8.3 Repeat class level

4.8.4 Uncoordinated education system

4.8.5 Inappropriate curriculum

4.9 Health

4.9.1 Too many unnecessary health insurance companies

4.9.2 No health insurance approval despite healing

4.9.3 Profits from patients who remain ill

4.9.4 Haphazardly through the pandemic

4.9.5 Health-threatening environmental pollution

4.10 Infrastructure

4.10.1 Obsolete networks

4.10.2 Exploitation of domestic raw materials

4.10.3 Expensive disposal and insufficient recycling

4.10.4 Overpriced real estate market

4.10.5 Wasteful traffic

4.10.6 Finite and harmful energy production

4.11 Security

4.11.1 Exploitative foreign missions

4.11.2 Destructive arms industry

4.11.3 Disproportionate arming of the security forces

4.11.4 Political abuse of the powerless police force

4.11.5 Secret services in action against their own people

4.11.6 Private security services without democratic control

4.11.7 Borderless crime and economic flight

4.11.8 Haphazardly disaster management

4.12 Justice

4.12.1 Partisan judges

4.12.2 Unaffordable lengthy court proceedings

4.12.3 Expensive penal system

4.12.4 Unclear legal situations

4.13 Foreign Affairs

4.13.1 International anarchy

4.13.2 Exploitative globalisation

4.13.3 Ineffective development aid

4.14 Integration

4.14.1 Discriminatory dual citizenship

4.14.2 Parallel societies

4.14.3 Exclusion or preference of cultures and religions

4.14.4 Immigration to the detriment of employees and immigrants

4.14.5 Intolerable asylum procedures

4.15 Family

4.15.1 Rightless childhood

4.15.2 Neglected youths

4.15.3 Criminalisation of love

4.15.4 Lonely senior citizens

4.15.5 Compulsion to live

5. About the author

5.1 My motivation

5.2 My vision

5.3 My goal

5.4 My beliefs

5.5 My educational background

5.5.1 Youth

5.5.2 Military service

5.5.3 Academic studies

5.5.4 Field studies

5.5.5 Training

5.6 My first experience with politics

5.7 My image of humans

5.8 My first concept from 2009

5.8.1 Introduction video

5.8.2 Interview form

5.9 My procedure

6. Notes to the reader

6.1 Operating instructions

6.2 Numbers and numerals

6.3 Male form

6.4 Unpopular proposals

6.5 Suggestions for improvement

6.6 Inventions

6.7 Become active

6.8 Game of Life

6.8.1 Welcome to the game of life

6.8.2 Welcome to the 21st century

6.8.3 Welcome to the system

6.8.4 Welcome to the finish

Contact form

1 Introduction

I became interested in politics when I was about 17. In the beginning, I stood with school friends and we grumbled about politics. That's when I realised that it made me unhappy just to complain and not be able to do anything about it. So I wanted to think of solutions and talk about them rather than problems. I started to write down all my ideas in a diary. My intention was to turn them into a party programme that could be used to found a party. My hope was to be able to make a difference. My fear was that I would end up as an old man who only grumbles and is angry that he never tried to solve the problems.

This is how my mission for the handover of power began. In the beginning, the goal was "You must know your enemies in order to be able to fight them", later it became "You must become the head of government in order to effectively solve the problems" and today it is "Change the current system and thus save humanity". These ever-increasing goals became necessary because I realised that further down in the system I could not eliminate the cause, but only mitigate the effect. Colloquially, one says: "The fish stinks from the head." So it was clear where I had to start. I also noticed that many humans were affected, worldwide.

I wanted to know who was responsible for this and get to know this person. It was not until the last final exam of my political science degree and after numerous internships in the halls of power that I found the answer. It is not a single human or a group of humans. It is a flawed system to which humans have adapted. I was able to identify four faults that are so central that they are the cause of all the problems that follow. The faults cause human behaviour that does more damage than good to humanity. The good thing about this is firstly the realisation that no human is inherently evil or stupid. Only in living together with other humans do they adapt to a system made by humans. The good thing is that we humans created this system, so we can change it. All we need is a procedure that not only allows us to adapt, but also gives us the opportunity to question the adaptation and, if necessary, to recognise and correct faults.

2 Summary

This volume serves to present the need for the other volumes through problems, solutions and examples, as well as the intention of this book. First, I will name the faults in the system and the resulting problems and underline them with examples. This is followed by approaches to solutions, which are described in detail in all volumes of the book. At the end, I will give an insight into my personality and which basic attitudes have influenced me in writing this book. Finally, I turn to you personally, dear reader. I give you hints to help you read and understand and how you can join in if you feel like doing so after reading the book.